CUMBERLAND SET BACK LAW IS APPROVED

The protests of a scattering of citizens Saturday did not stop the Cumberland Twp. supervisors from passing a "set back" ordinance which was described as a "stop-gap" to help maintain the status quo in respect to building in the township until such time as a zoning ordinance can be prepared, approved and put into effect.

The ordinance, one of several considered at the supervisors' meeting at the home of the township secretary, W. F. Cooley, prohibits construction of buildings and signs or billboards within these limits of public roads: From the center line of existing township roads, 70 feet; from the right of way line of state highways, 50 feet, and from government (National Park) avenues, 150 feet.

It was the set back restriction in respect to the government avenues that stirred the most protest, but even so, only three persons of the dozen present were outspoken against this limitation.

Why The Taxpayers?
"Why should we, the taxpayers, go along with this government and tourist business?" one citizen asked as he attributed the supervisors' impending action on the ordinance to "some man here in town, someone who is hidden."

Thomas H. Nixon, chairman of the township's planning commission, assured the critic that the ordinance had been recommended to the supervisors on the basis of the commission's own determination and was not the result of influence from without.

But Nixon did say that the choice of the 150-foot set back line for government avenues had been suggested by National Park Service personnel.

Atty. John A. MacPhail, counsel for the supervisors, stated to those inquiring that the ordinance will not affect existing building within set back limits, nor will it prohibit repair of such structures.

Delay Action
The supervisors referred back to the planning commission another proposed ordinance which would have required building permits for all but agricultural construction in the township. Several of the citizens present made suggestions which the supervisors said they felt the planning commission should study.

Two other ordinances were approved. One levies a five per cent tax on admissions to amusements operating in the township. Among those places which may be affected by the new tax are the National Museum, Fantasyland and a bowling center which is now under construction in the township.

Time Required
Nixon, in elaborating on the planning commission's action, said that two problems confront the commission and the township. One is the question, how much preservation of the battlefield, there is less risk that later the federal government will step in and take over more of the land than exempting it from taxes altogether. Failure to restrict building within "reasonable distances" of park avenues will be like "killing the goose that laid the golden eggs," he reasoned.

That the protests were comparatively few was reflected by Cooley's report at the meeting of the results of a recent census taken by the Census Bureau. That report indicates that the township population July 9 was 2,887. The 1950 census showed the population as 1,999.

Supervisors said that they had also received several calls prior to the meeting objecting to the two controversial ordinances.

PAY TRIBUTE TO BASEHORE AT SERVICES

An estimated 200 persons filled the Peters Funeral Home on Carlisle St. Sunday afternoon for the funeral services for John H. Basehore, 56, borough treasurer, justice of the peace and former Republican county chairman, who died of a self-inflicted rifle wound last Friday afternoon at his summer cottage on Mt. Newman.

In a eulogy, the Rev. Dr. Ralph R. Gresh, Leacock, Pa., former pastor at St. James Lutheran Church, where Mr. Basehore was a Sunday School teacher for many years, said: "One of Gettysburg's first citizens, a patriot and a Christian gentleman is no longer in our midst and we are brought together today by a great sorrow in his passing."

He continued: "The church has lost one of its most faithful and generous workers and the Sunday School has lost a teacher whose life has made an imprint on many boys who have sat in his classes through the years. We have all lost a friend."

As he assured the Basehore family, "so greatly bereaved," of the prayers and sympathy of all who knew Mr. Basehore, the speaker pointed the bereaved to their Christian faith for comfort. "We go back to our faith, back to the Bible and back to God for our assurance that those who live in faith do not perish and that God is kind, merciful and loving."

As he concluded his remarks, Dr. Gresh referred again to Mr. Basehore as "one who gave himself so generously and untriflingly and always doing things for the good of the life of the community in which he lived."

Bad Weather Cancels Out Ike's Luncheon In Iceland

By EDDY GILMORE
President Eisenhower ended his 13-day swing through Europe today and flew back to Washington to prepare for his meeting eight days hence with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Because of bad weather in Iceland, the President cancelled his plan to lunch there with Icelandic President Asgeir Asgeirsson. Instead, the chief executive's yellow-nosed jet airliner sped him to Washington via Gander, Newfoundland.

The President looked relaxed and sun-tanned after his three-day golfing vacation in Scotland.

He took the vacation to rest up after a series of conferences with European leaders—a tour which his doctors called one of the toughest jobs of his presidency.

JUDGES SPEAK AT DEMOCRATS' FAMILY PICNIC

"Ask your lawyer," was the advice of the two Democratic candidates for state Supreme and Superior Courts as they spoke to more than 1,000 Adams County Democrats at the party's family picnic Saturday evening at the Adams County Fairgrounds, near Abbottstown.

Both judgeship candidates emphasized their experience as qualifying them for the posts in the state's high courts. Judge Michael J. Eagen, a judge of the common pleas court of Lackawanna County who is seeking a place on the Supreme bench, noted that the courts in his county "enjoy one of the finest records of any court in the U.S. and we're current and up to date."

Judge Eagen has served the Lackawanna County court for 18 years. He was district attorney in that county for eight years. It was Judge Eagen's decision on a recent case against a movie exhibitor for showing obscene films that was reversed by the state Supreme Court in a split decision.

Words Not Vague

The high court said the act under which the exhibitor was convicted by Judge Eagen was unconstitutional because the words "obscene" and "immoral" are vague. Judge Eagen said that in his opinion these words are not vague.

Judge Eagen also pointed out that of 210 lawyers in his home county, 58 per cent of whom are Republicans, 203 who participated in a recent poll voted unanimously in respect to his ability and qualifications as a judge.

Judge Harry M. Montgomery, who has been on the bench in Allegheny County for 16 years and 16 years and who seeks the Superior Court post, also pointed to his experience as qualifying him for a place of the appellate court.

Both judges and the Adams County Democratic candidates were introduced by Fred G. Klunk, chairman of the county Democratic Committee.

Surprise Visitor

Gov. David L. Lawrence was expected at the picnic but was unable to be present. He had been delayed by plane connections, it was explained.

But Congressman James M. Quigley, Camp Hill, representing the 19th District which includes Adams County, Cumberland and York Counties, made an unscheduled visit to the picnic and spoke briefly.

Candidates for the county offices who were introduced and the offices they seek are: George E. Kane and Charles B. Bender, county commissioner; Daniel E. Teeter, district attorney; Herbert W. Miller, probate judge; R. L. Pittenburgh, register and recorder; and Arthur W. Weikert and Vesta G. Lingg, county auditor.

Littlestown Band Plays

Musical entertainment was furnished by the Littlestown High School Band. Chicken corn soup, wieners and other food and refreshments were served.

Picnic officials estimated the crowd at upward of 2,000 persons during the course of the afternoon and evening. The picnic began at 3 p.m. and continued until about 9 p.m.

324 Lose Lives In Traffic Accidents Over Weekend

At 11 o'clock this morning the death toll over the long holiday weekend was:
Traffic deaths	324
Boating	18
Nonboating	33
Miscellaneous	51
Total	426

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ideal weather and the last extended holiday weekend of the summer combined to produce a mounting death toll on the nation's highways over the Labor Day weekend.

The National Safety Council, grimly statistically minded, sounded this warning: "There is only one way to hold down the toll and that is by drivers doing their part. The toll continues to mount alarmingly. Unless there is a definite improvement in the drivers' behavior, the toll could approach the all-time high."

"We ask every driver to act as his own traffic officer and to accept personal responsibility for preventing an accident—the one he might cause."

ONE INJURED, $1,850 DAMAGE IN 2 ACCIDENTS

Damage totaled $1,850 and one person was injured in two auto accidents investigated by state police of the Gettysburg substation over the weekend.

W. A. Mahone, 79, New Oxford R. 2, suffered chest injuries and bruises of the right hand in an auto accident near New Oxford at noon Saturday.

State police said Mahone was driving east and sought to make a left turn at the Lincoln Highway. His auto was struck by a westbound car operated by Esther M. Pentz, 50, York. Damage was estimated at $400 to the Mahone auto and $800 to the Pentz vehicle. Mahone was removed to the Hanover Hospital in the New Oxford Fire Co. ambulance.

Mishap Near Fairfield

No one was injured but damage was estimated at $450 to the car and $200 to a fence when an auto operated by Melvin S. Showers, 38, 34 N. Franklin St., ran off the Zora road one-tenth of a mile west of Fairfield at 6:45 o'clock Sunday evening.

State police said Showers' car ran off the edge of the highway on a curve. When Showers sought to return the vehicle to the road, he swerved too sharply and the car crossed the highway and smashed into a fence at the home of William White, Fairfield R. 1.

The following editorial on Abraham Lincoln was published many years ago in the Ohio State Journal, Columbus, Ohio:

He was a homely, awkward man, sometimes called uncouth.

He had less than year's schooling.

He had few, if any, bosom friends.

He served one undistinguished term in Washington as a congressman.

He was defeated when he ran for U. S. senator.

He was utterly devoid of what today we would call political glamor.

Tragedy stalked his private life.

Two years after his defeat for senator, he emerged, from a "smoke-filled room," the Republican nominee for President of the United States.

He was elected by the smallest percentage of popular vote of any of our Presidents.

Between his election and his inauguration, seven states seceded from the Federal Union, to be followed shortly by four others.

He wielded virtually dictatorial power.

Two men were injured when a car and a stake-bodied truck collided this morning at 8 o'clock one-fourth mile north of Heidlersburg on the Gettysburg-Harrisburg Rd.

John Frazer, 73, Aspers R. 1, was treated at the Warner Hospital for lacerations of the forehead and nose. Wayne Stake, 21, Tullytown, Pa., was treated for brushburns of the face and extremities. Both men were x-rayed this morning to determine whether they suffered internal injuries.

Frazer was driving his stake-bodied truck, loaded with cans of milk, from his farm to the creamery at York Springs when his truck was involved in an accident with an auto operated by Stake.

The vehicles collided almost head on. The car was demolished and Stake was pinned between the seat and the steering wheel until the York Springs Fire Co. ambulance crew arrived to remove him.

State police called to the scene had to radio for additional police officers to handle traffic until the wrecked truck and car could be removed from the center of the highway.

CONGRESS IN SESSION TODAY FIRST SINCE '42

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas maneuvered today for holiday action on Senate legislation despite the threat of time-consuming talk by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore).

Both the Senate and the House scheduled Labor Day working sessions for the first time since 1942, in the first year of World War II. Johnson's trump card in his battle against Morse's holiday delaying tactics was a unanimous consent agreement to limit debate on a bill to extend the farm surplus disposal program.

Could Force Delays

Although Morse could force some delays, the farm surplus measure was officially before the Senate. This appeared likely to block the Oregon senator's announced intention to read to his colleagues a three-volume history of the labor movement.

The surplus disposal measure was laid aside Saturday while the Senate, despite Morse's tactics, passed a bill to increase the federal gasoline tax from 3 to 4 cents a gallon effective Oct. 1. The measure, designed to assure financing of the federal highway construction program, goes back to the house for consideration of Senate changes.

Numerous Senate amendments to the surplus disposal bill still must be acted upon. But debate on each is limited to 30 minutes under the agreement, and the delays Morse could force on this bill thus were limited.

The House expected no such trouble on its working holiday. It arranged a session to dispose of a batch of relatively minor bills and thus pave the way for more important legislation later in the week.

Tuesday it takes up a second-round $1,185,309,093 public works appropriation bill, almost certain to draw another veto in its present form. The revised bill contains funds for more than 60 new projects to which President Eisenhower objected when he vetoed an earlier measure.

SEEK TRIO IN HOTEL DEATH

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two men, described by police as dangerous, and a woman were being sought today for questioning in the death of a North Carolina state employee at the Greater Pittsburgh Airport Hotel.

Police did not release the names of the trio being sought but said one of the men is believed armed with a .45 automatic pistol.

The police pickups were broadcast several hours after William Mark Querey, 49, was found dead in the hotel Saturday. An autopsy showed he suffered an intercranial hemorrhage.

Withdrew Money

Querey, a former resident of New Brighton, Pa., had returned from North Carolina to attend the funeral of his mother last Friday. Police said he withdrew $500 from a New Brighton Bank.

When the body was discovered, police said, there was only $32 in the clothing.

Querey was employed as a state clerk in North Carolina.

Packing Firms Will Meet Union Tuesday

CHICAGO (AP) — Two major meat packing firms without new labor contracts were to meet Tuesday with federal mediators and union representatives.

Wilson & Co. is operating under a contract extension agreement with the United Packinghouse Workers of America and the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen.

Swift & Co., largest of all packers, was struck at 12:01 a.m. Friday by both unions.

The old union contracts expired Aug. 31.

Actually, union members struck Wilson as well as Swift Friday, but the Wilson strike was called off almost immediately when Wilson and the unions agreed to confer. Both sides then agreed to extend the old contract.

The two unions represent 6,500 Wilson workers in seven cities. The strike against Swift idled more than 17,000 workers in 34 cities.

The unions asked Wilson and Swift for contracts similar to the one negotiated with Armour & Co. The Armour contract provided for pay increases and benefits totaling 22 cents an hour for 14,000 workers.

Average wages under the old industry contracts were $2.56 an hour.

VIRGINIA WILL EXPAND MIXED SCHOOL SETUP

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Schools in four communities will admit 60 Negro students along with white pupils Tuesday as Virginia expands racial integration under federal court edicts.

For Charlottesville and Warren County the mixing of students in the public schools will be a new experience.

In Prince Edward County Thursday, there will be still another test of the state's new "freedom of choice" school policy when a private organization opens facilities for virtually all the county's white children.

Resume Integration

Norfolk and Alexandria will resume integrated operations. Both cities admitted Negroes for the first time last February after the collapse of the state's school closure and other anti-integration laws in the courts. Norfolk will admit 21 Negroes to seven white or predominantly white schools. Nine Negroes are to be admitted to three schools in Alexandria.

Arlington resumed integrated operations last Tuesday by enrolling 16 Negroes along with white students.

Parents of 2,600 children in Charlottesville and Warren County must decide whether to send their children to racially mixed public schools or segregated private schools.

Foundation Classes

The Charlottesville Educational Foundation will open classes for children who object to integration. Twelve Negroes will be admitted to two public schools.

The Warren County Educational Foundation will offer private segregated classes again but has set no opening date. Eighteen Negroes have enrolled in the public high school.

The Prince Edward School Foundation will conduct all-white private classes in lieu of public schools abandoned by the county government.

There have been no plans for schooling the county's 1,750 Negro pupils.

Woman Bank Teller Changes Check Tale

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A 21-year-old woman bank teller told police she handed over an estimated $8,000 in traveler's checks to a pair of men when they threatened to tell her parents she had dated one of them.

It was the second story Miss Kathleen Kelley of suburban Upper Darby told about a robbery at a Fidelity Philadelphia Trust Co. branch last Friday.

Her first story was that she had been threatened by two men with guns, neither of whom she said she knew. She changed her story last night.

Police broadcast a flier for the two men implicated by Miss Kelley. Det. Americo Ronsome of Philadelphia said Miss Kelley told him she met the second man when she was out on dates with the other one. Ronsome said he was "inclined to believe her story."

Wife Of Missing Trooper Pleads In Vain For Word Of Husband; Hold Ex-Con

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Ex-convict Alvin Knight turned his back on the wife of a missing state trooper Sunday night as she pleaded with him to tell her what happened to her husband.

"I'll pray for you and forgive you, but please tell," Clara Souden, 23, mother of a seven-month-old baby, told Knight.

Trooper Albert Souden, 29, disappeared last Thursday after going to question Knight about a $75 burglar at a factory.

"I'm Sorry For You"

Knight, 48, told Mrs. Souden, "I am sorry for you and your baby but I can't do anything for you."

Then he choked back tears. "This isn't any indication I'm weakening," he said. "I'm sorry

MAN HITCHES WILD RIDE ON MOTORCYCLE

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—LeRoy Dougherty, 31, a resident of suburban Collins Park, invited his friend, Luther McIlvain, 24 of Wilmington, to hop on the back of his motorcycle for a short spin early Sunday morning.

As the pair cruised through the center of the city, a police officer signalled to Dougherty but the cyclist, who was wanted for ignoring a traffic violation summons, put his vehicle in high gear and raced at 80 miles an hour the wrong way down a side street with the officer in pursuit.

As the terrified McIlvain hung on for his life, Dougherty cut through a barricaded construction area and headed north on Governor Printz Boulevard toward Claymont.

More Police Join In

By now, a Delaware State trooper, alerted by radio, had joined in the chase.

Up Route 13 they went. Dougherty crossed into Pennsylvania and roared through Marcus Hook where Patrolman Robert Reed took up the chase.

Weaving and dodging expertly, he made a swing through the western edge of Chester and headed back toward Delaware with still another officer, Nick Foreacre, an off-duty Upper Chester Twp. patrolman joining the chase in his own car.

None of the police fire on Dougherty as he sped through five counties because they were afraid of hitting his passenger.

Set Up Road Block

Meanwhile on the Conchester Road — Route 322 — Bethel Township Police Chief Peter Mangold and three of his men parked their patrol car across the highway and waited with pistols and shotguns at the ready. Spotlights made the road block plainly visible for some distance.

When he spotted the armed officers, Dougherty shouted that he was going to stop and did so. Officers said he hit a top speed of 115 miles an hour just before he reached the barricade.

He was charged with several traffic violations in both Chester and Marcus Hook and then turned over to the Delaware State Police. Dougherty was freed pending a later arraignment. Bail is not required in Delaware on traffic violations.

ture were by the Rev. John Bishop, assistant pastor at St. James Lutheran Church, and the concluding remarks and prayer were by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Paul L. Reaser. All three also took part in the interment service at the grave in Evergreen Cemetery.

The pallbearers were Register and Recorder Carl S. Menchey, Postmaster Jacob G. Appier, William R. Swisher, Donald Sheely, Edward Stine and Richard C. Lighter.

There were many floral tributes.

Mitchell Hopes For Strike Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell says he is still hoping the steel strike can be settled without adding to inflationary pressures.

"An increase in (steel) prices doesn't necessarily have to happen," he said in an ABC-TV interview Sunday. "It seems to me that there is a possibility in this steel settlement, when it comes, of a settlement that will be noninflationary both in terms of wages and in terms of prices."

He reiterated it may be necessary for the government to step in by early October if the strike has not been settled by then. Negotiations resume in New York Tuesday. The strike has continued since July 14.

Mitchell predicted that steel shortages would start appearing by late September or early October, with consequent increases in unemployment. If that happens, he said, "this strike may take on the aspects of an emergency" justifying action under the Taft-Hartley law.

Continued Search

Arrested Friday in a northern Michigan cabin, Knight admitted being in the trooper's car Thursday. But he insisted he knew nothing of what happened to the trooper. He said Souden's service revolver. He said he bought it for $10 from a hitchhiker.

The search for Souden has centered in a southeast Michigan area where his patrol car was found.

Knight's prison record dates back to 1930 on Ohio and Michigan burglary convictions.

Macmillan Asks For Elections

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan went to visit Queen Elizabeth in Scotland today and ask her to call elections for a new British Parliament.

He is due to return to London Tuesday. The national poll will choose a completely new House of Commons and decide whether Macmillan's Conservatives or Hugh Gaitskell's Labor party rules Britain for the next five years.

Oct. 8 or 15 are the favorite tips for voting day.

Macmillan must see the Queen before announcing election day. Under British custom only she can decide to dissolve Parliament.

The Conservatives have held power since they ousted the Laborites in 1951.

They were returned for a second term in 1955.

Race Incident Ends As Police Arrive

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Eleven Negroes, part of a crowd which roughed up a police officer, were arrested Sunday in the latest of a series of such incidents.

Patrolman James Meegan, a white officer, was on his way home when a Negro stopped him and began protesting the recent arrest of his son.

About 50 Negroes gathered quickly. Some pulled at Meegan's uniform, others cursed him.

In response to a telephone tip, police sent reinforcements.

Some Steel Strikers May Return To Jobs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — About 2,800 striking employees of Universal-Cyclops Steel Corp. will vote Tuesday on a plan to resume work under an extension of the old contract.

Company officials and members of the United Steelworkers reached a tentative agreement Saturday to renew the old contract that expired July 15 and to keep it in effect until 20 days after the nationwide steel strike is settled.

J. T. Rimer, company vice president, said the firm will reopen its plants at Bridgeville and Titusville as soon as possible.

The workers, about 800 at Titusville and 2,000 at Bridgeville, walked off the job when the old pact expired.

U. S. HEADS U.N. FACT-FINDING MOVE ON LAOS

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States spearheaded a move today to call on the U.N. Security Council to send a fact-finding mission to troubled Laos. The U.S. delegation and several others were expected to submit a resolution proposing such a mission to the council meeting on Laos' plea for a U.N. emergency force to meet any aggression from Communist North Viet Nam.

North Viet Nam early today said it had asked the U.N. to reject Laos' request for a U.N. force and branded it illegal.

Blames U.S.

"The government of the democratic Republic of Viet Nam is highly indignant at these actions," said the Red Viet Nam News Agency. "It points out that the deep-seated root of the present tension in Laos is the interference of the United States aimed at turning this country into one of its military bases and seriously threatening the peace of Viet Nam."

North Viet Nam is not a member of the United Nations.

If the Soviet Union should veto the resolution seeking a fact-finding mission, the sponsors could get an emergency session of the General Assembly within 24 hours by a vote of any seven of the 11 countries on the council.

Red Resolution

Some diplomats said they had word the Soviets had drafted a resolution of their own favoring revival of the dormant Canadian-Indian-Polish International Control Commission for Laos, a product of the 1954 Geneva conference agreements for peace and independence in French Indochina. Laos opposes this plan. So does the United States and Britain.

The council was to hear a report from Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld on a letter he received from Laotian Foreign Minister Khamphan Panya.

The letter reflected trouble the royal government of Laos has had with Communist Pathet Lao rebels since last May, when a shaky 1957 national unity and peace agreement between the two broke down.

Troop Crossings

It said that since July 16, foreign troops had been crossing Laos' northeastern frontier with Communist North Viet Nam.

It urged that an emergency force be sent as soon as possible "to stop the aggression," and asked Hammarskjöld to apply "the appropriate procedure."

A U.S. delegation spokesman issued a statement Sunday to the effect that the United States and other countries would propose a resolution for "the formation of a subcommittee of the council to look into the facts on the spot in Laos."

Some observers expressed belief the Soviet Union would abstain from voting on the expected fact-finding resolution and let it pass just to keep things pleasant for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's U.S. trip. Others believed the U.S.S.R. would veto the resolution to show Asian Communists she was still with them despite Khrushchev's journey.

Corners Market On Jumping Beans

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Young Kirby Westheimer's first big business deal was a whopper. He bought one million Mexican jumping beans, cornering half of this year's world market for his father's novelty firm.

Westheimer, 21, a Harvard Business School student, got the jump on the competition on a trip to Mexico's Sierra Madre region.

The beans were shipped to a St. Louis warehouse in hand-made tin containers by mule, bus, car, train and plane.

The beans are grown only in northern Mexico. They jump because they have small moth larvae under their skin.

RILEY RESCUED

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Officer James Riley, 28, was having a difficult time with three drunks. They had wrestled him to the ground and were trying to take his gun. A passerby, David Bush, jumped in Riley's patrol car and radioed for help. Four other cars converged on the scene within minutes and rescued Riley.

World Briefs

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's foreign minister, Aichihiro Fujiyama, said today Japan will not take part in any military action against Communist North Viet Nam, even if the U.N. decides Laos has been a victim of Red aggression. The minister said constitutional restrictions make such a move impossible.

TAIPEI (AP)—Nationalist batteries on Quemoy blazed twice today against approaching Communist vessels and both times scored a hit, the Defense Ministry reported.

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Indian government today published a white paper on its border troubles with Red China showing that the disagreement between the two nations is broader than indicated earlier.

The 125-page document starkly outlined the deteriorating relations between the two governments by detailing notes and other communications between New Delhi and Peiping since the signing of the Indo-Chinese co-existence treaty in 1954.

Red Chinese troops still are believed to be holding several sections of Indian territory seized late in August.

BONN, Germany (AP)—An impressive concert hall, built as a memorial to Ludwig von Beethoven, will be opened Tuesday in Bonn, where the great German composer was born. The building, named Beethoven Hall, cost more than $2,200,000.

SEOUL (AP)—South Korean Foreign Minister Cho Chung-whan said today the free world should take immediate steps to help Laos "without awaiting any negotiations or resolutions."

BRUSSELS (AP)—King Baudouin of Belgium is 29 today.

ANCONA, Italy (AP)—The loss of life rose to 10 today from a violent storm that struck this Adriatic port Saturday night.

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (AP)—Dr. Francis Patrick McNulty, 87, founder of the St. Joseph's Hospital school for lay nurses here and superintendent of the hospital for more than 20 years, died Sunday.

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's Finance Ministry admitted today that money shrinks.

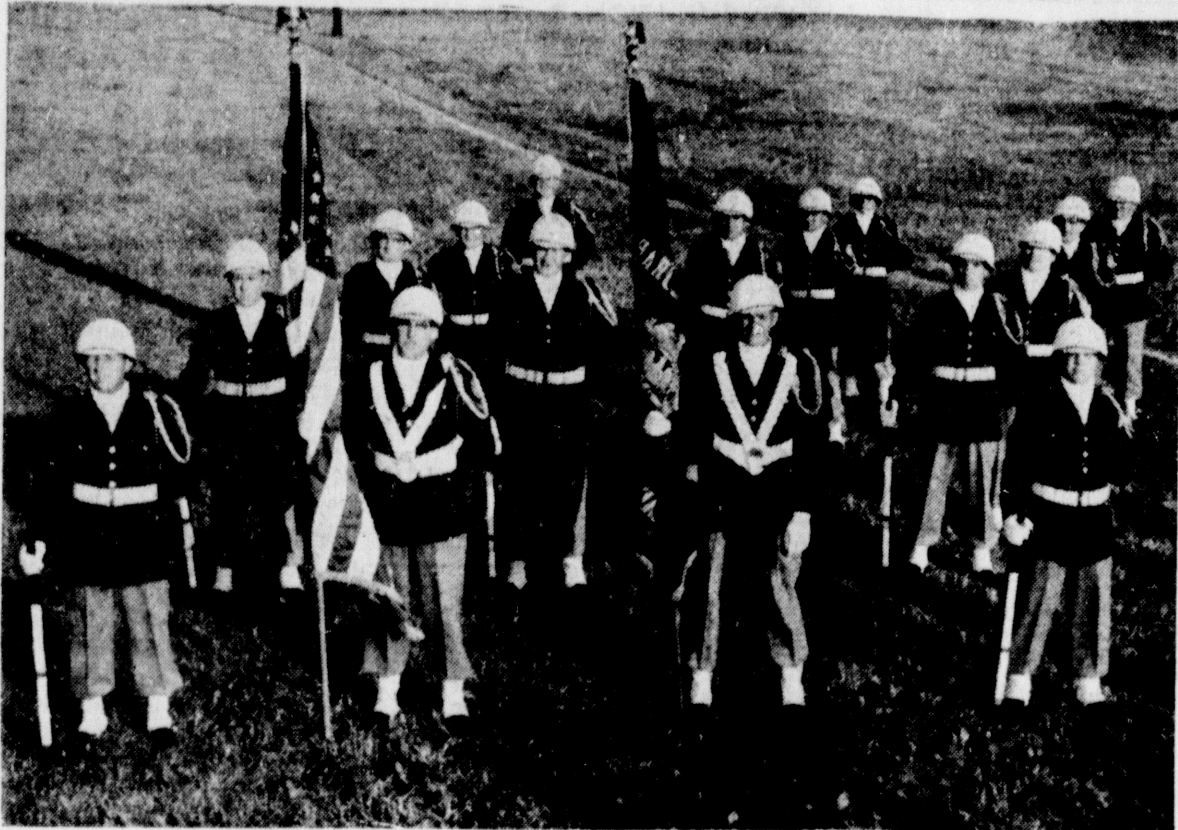

Kiyoshi Kobayashi, director of a commercial inquiry agency, indignantly presented a 500 yen—$1.38—note to a bank.

"It's smaller than it should be," he stated. "I'm afraid its counterfeit."

Measurement showed it was shorter than a new note, but valid. "It must have gotten wet and shrunk," a Finance Ministry spokesman said.

AGREEMENT ON NEW ARM TALK IS EXPECTED

PARIS (AP)—The Big Four have agreed to resume disarmament talks in a 10-nation conference in Geneva early next year, the French Foreign Minister announced today.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Big Four were expected to announce agreement today to start arms talks again in a balanced 10-nation East-West group in Geneva at the start of 1960.

Diplomatic sources said Britain, France, the Soviet Union and the United States would announce today how they planned to resume the disarmament negotiations they dropped two years ago.

They forecast that the U.N. Disarmament Commission would be summoned to meet late this week to hear from the four, take note of the agreement and report to the General Assembly convening next Tuesday.

To Be Private
Informants said the agreement was that:

1. The negotiating group will be the Soviet Union, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Romania from the Communist world and the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Italy from the Western world.

2. The negotiations will be private and outside the United Nations. But they will make use of the U.N.'s Geneva building and clerical aid and will submit regular reports to the Disarmament Commission and through it to the Assembly.

Have Been Marking Time
Negotiations to end the arms race broke off in disagreement in London two years ago in the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee—the Big Four plus Canada.

The Soviet Union said then it would go back to them only in a disarmament commission including as many Communist and neutralist countries together as Western countries—or one taking in all U.N. members.

The General Assembly enlarged the 12-nation Disarmament Commission to 25 in 1957. But that did not bring the Soviets back, and so it enlarged the commission again last year to all 82 U.N. members. The newly expanded commission has been marking time.

Resent U. S. Bases On Japanese Soil

TOKYO (AP)—Some of Japan's top defense attorneys charged today that the presence of American troops and bases in this country was unconstitutional because Japan had forever renounced war.

The charge was made before the Supreme Court in the first of six scheduled hearings on whose outcome hinges America's defense setup in Asia.

A Tokyo district court acquitted seven students who broke into a U.S. Air Force base west of Tokyo in 1957 during a demonstration against its expansion. The court ruled the very presence of U.S. military forces violated Japan's "no war" constitution.

EXPERTS WORK AFTER ROUNDS

KANSAS CITY (AP)—At least three of the more successful pros on the golf trail believe in the old adage that practice makes perfect.

Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., and Bob Goaly of Crystal River, Fla., who start today's final round in the $20,000 Kansas City Open as co-leaders at 206, found time after Sunday's third round to practice more than an hour just hitting the ball off a tee.

Finsterwald, who shot a third round 69, and Goaly, with a 71, were joined by Jim Ferree, another of the golfing stable from Crystal River, in the practice session.

Runner-up Spot

Ferree played his third round in four-under-par 68 for a total of 207. That put him in a tie with Doug Sanders of Miami Beach, Fla., for the runner-up spot at the start of the final round.

There were no major casualties Sunday although Tommy Bolt didn't get along very well in his try for the Ryder Cup team. Tommy, who has to win this tournament to qualify for the team, shot an even par 72 that left him four strokes off the pace at 210.

ALL NATIONS DAY TURNS INTO A MOB SCENE

BALTIMORE (AP)—An outbreak of racial tension turned an All Nations Day celebration into a mob scene at a nearby amusement park Sunday.

Three pickets protesting the exclusion of Negroes from privately operated Gwynn Oak Park were set upon by an angry crowd shouting "Get a rope! Knock them over the head! Back to Russia!"

They were among 40 protesting members from the Committee on Racial Equality, a biracial group which has picketed the last five "All Nations Day" observances at the park.

Two, one of them a Negro, were jeered, struck and kicked at by mob leaders after they refused to leave the grounds and were being dragged toward the exit by Baltimore County police.

Will Face Charges

They and three others, who left under police escort moments earlier, were charged with disorderly conduct.

As the two were being hauled out by officers, someone in the crowd pointed out Ivor Kraft, 34-year-old Baltimorean who had directed the demonstration, and shouted, "Let's get this guy!"

The mob leaders pushed him to the ground and began pummeling him. Kraft's spectacles were knocked off and a sleeve was ripped from his shirt.

No injuries were reported to the other pickets who were attacked, James L. Lacy, 24, Washington Negro, and Joseph C. Sheehan, 26, Baltimore.

Evict Pickets

Besides Lacy and Sheehan, those charged with disorderly conduct were booked as Juretha Z. Joyner, Baltimore negro; Dale H. Drews, 23, of Washington, and Mrs. Giles E. Brown, 44, Baltimore.

Ten minutes before the violence, these five had slipped past park guards and approached a ticket booth for amusement rides. A crowd of about 500 gathered about them, hooting and threatening them until police arrived to evict the pickets.

RESCUE WOMEN FROM ATLANTIC

CAPE MAY, N. J. (AP)—Two Pennsylvania women went through a harrowing experience over the weekend, clinging to an overturned boat in the Atlantic Ocean for 12 hours before being rescued.

Mrs. Margaret Packer, 55, owner of the Packer House Hotel in Harrisburg, Pa., and Mrs. Robert Jacobs, 61, of Route 1, York Haven, Pa., were discharged from Burdette Tomlin Memorial Hospital in Cape May Court House Sunday after being treated for exposure and exhaustion.

They were pulled from the water Saturday by a man in a passing boat. The Coast Guard had been searching for the pair since late Friday.

The two women had set out from Cape May in Mrs. Packer's 16-foot outboard for a day of fishing. "We were returning and the boat started shipping water," explained Mrs. Packer. "We didn't notice it at first and, by the time we tried to adjust our weight and bail out, the boat capsize from the stern."

"My fingers were raw. We figured that, if we could hang on, by morning someone would find us."

Heavy Fines May Stop Sunday Sales

MIDDLETOWN, Pa. (AP)—Sharply increased fines for Sunday sales violations probably will force the Middletown Merchandise mart to suspend Sunday operations next week, according to its manager.

Bernard Z. Rose made the comment Sunday after 10 persons were arrested on Sunday sales charges in the 15th consecutive weekly raid at the mart. They face hearings Thursday.

The fine for the offense now is $4, plus costs. But under new legislation the fine next Sunday goes up to $100 for the first offense and $200 for each subsequent violation in a year.

That's prohibitive, said Rose.

54 BEAUTIES IN CONTEST

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—For the first time since the Miss America Pageant began, every state in the Union will be represented this year. A total of 54 beautiful girls will vie this week for $37,000 in scholarships. The extra 4 are Miss New York City, Miss Chicago, Miss Washington, D.C., and Miss Canada.

The new Miss America will be picked Saturday night.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Racial and religious restrictions on membership have been removed from the by-laws and rituals of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. The removal was voted 134-37 Sunday at the fraternity's biennial meeting.

The end of the Civil War in Spain with France's triumphant came on March 28, 1939, with the surrender of Madrid and Valencia.

Will Not Lower Rural Mail Box

WASHINGTON (AP)—A rural mail carrier wanted to lower the height of a mail box on his route in Franklin County, Ohio. He had just bought a small, foreign car and couldn't reach the box.

But the farmer, who owns the box, complained. He wrote Rep. Samuel L. Devine (R-Ohio) that the carrier had told him to lower the box to three feet. Devine passed the complaint on to the Post Office Department.

The department then overruled the carrier.

"Granting that the layout of the ground immediately surrounding the box is normal and it is erected approximately within the regulations as to height," the department spokesman said, "it is believed that service can be conveniently provided from either a domestic or foreign made car."

Mrs. Haygood says Skunky is 21 years old.

But Sunday Skunky gave birth to three kittens.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO
The Public Schools of the Borough were opened on Thursday last for a term of nine months. The number of pupils in attendance was almost 400; which will be increased in two or three months. In consequence of the large increase of pupils in the Lower Department, the Directors have found it necessary to open a separate School for their accommodation in the School house on High street a short distance west of the main building.

The schools are now under the care of Mr. K. R. Baugher, A.M., Principal, Mr. R. A. Lyttle, Vice Principal, and an efficient corps of female Assistants.

On Friday, the President of the Board of Directors announced to the Pupils of the High School that at the end of the present session, two Scholarships in Pennsylvania College — one purchased by W. A. G. Thompson, Esq., of Lancaster, and the other by the Hon. Edward McPherson, of Gettysburg, and placed at the disposal of the Board by these gentlemen — will be awarded as prizes to the most meritorious of the boys attending the School. These Scholarships entitle the holders to a full course of instruction in Pennsylvania College and will prove a very valuable, as well as highly honorable reward to those who may entitle themselves, by their diligence and fidelity, to receive them.

We learn that the Adams County Fire Insurance company, at their last meeting, issued an order of $10 as a compliment to Mr. James Rowzer for his energy in saving the property of the heirs of H. Wasmus from destruction a few weeks ago. The Company have an insurance upon the property for a considerable amount.

Pic-Nics: The German Reformed Sabbath School, with its teachers and members of the church, had a very large and pleasurable picnic on the banks of the Conowingo on Wednesday last. The Citizens Band accompanied them, and, as usual, discoursed very pretty music.

The Sabbath School of the Methodist E. Church also had a picnic on the same day, on the banks of Marsh Creek, which passed off very pleasantly.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
A "hot wave" struck this locality on Wednesday and since then it has been phenomenally warm for September, the mercury ranging day by day between 90 degrees and 100 degrees.

John Robinson's Big Show reached town this morning — 33 large cars. Town is filling up with strangers and every indication of a large crowd and a good show.

Fairfield Items: September came in hot and thus far has been one of the hottest months of the season. Much of the early corn will soon be fit to cut off, and the late is being damaged by heat and drought.

The miners on the Russell farm have struck a good vein of copper and report it from five to six feet thick. We hear they will commence to ship at once.

Farmers are busy gathering their cloverseed. While some claim a fair crop, others say it will be poor on account of being damaged by an insect.

Mr. Chas. J. Sefton has purchased from the Fairfield Manufacturing Co. about $500 worth of furniture.

Monument Of The 118th Penn's Regiment: On Saturday evening about 9 p.m. a special train arrived from Philadelphia with a large excursion, for the purpose of erecting a monument to the 118th Corn Exchange Regiment on Round Top. The party consisted of a large delegation of the Corn, now called the Commercial Exchange, Co. H, 1st Reg., National Guard of Pennsylvania, and about ninety of the surviving members of the regiment, accompanied by ladies.

Today's Talk

INWARD POWER

That which is most important in our lives comes from the deepest location. We call this inward power, and it is this power which opens up vast opportunities and prods us to action. We feel this inward power and it wakes us up! This is the power of giants, but it can be just as notable in the humblest of this earth, for it's a spiritual gift. It acts and reacts. It refreshes itself. It is inexhaustible, for its purpose lies deep in the human heart. It touches all mankind, and ennobles it wherever it is made manifest.

This inward power acts like electricity. You can't see it but its power demonstrates itself. It displays the truth and people understand it, for it is worldwide in its influence. It's a gentle power, however. Cowards pass it by because they know nothing of it. It is an instrument created by God, who keeps enlarging it to make "nations nobler, freer."

No one realizes this inward power as do those who demonstrate it in their daily lives. It works in noiseless ways. It is a thing of grandeur for it touches everything beautiful in human character. It keeps traveling in its silent and potent way. Kings lack it. The humblest can seek it out and adopt it as their own. Each of us puts his own price upon it.

Greatness feeds upon this God-given inward power. When created for noble usage, it gives new light to the world—a light that never goes out!

Just Folks

THE ROAD TO SUCCESS

Seek money if you will,
But first be kind;
And toiling up the hill
Look you behind
To see if there is not
Despairing, and afraid,
A brother you've forgot
Whom you can aid.

Seek fame and glory, too,
But first be fair.
In everything you do
Make this your care;
To take no 'vantage mean
Of lesser might,
To have your vict'ry clean
Or lose the fight.

Seek honors from the state,
But first be true;
Ascend life's mountains great,
But as you do
Be kind, be fair, be strong,
True to your trust;
Then, as you plod along,
Succeed you must.

At a meeting of the Corn Exchange of Philadelphia, held July 24, 1862, a committee was appointed with Hon. A. G. Cattell chairman for the purpose of furnishing the means necessary to raise a regiment of infantry for service in the national army. By August 30th the regiment was full and with Col. Charles M. Prevost in command reported to Gen. Wool at Baltimore, August 31st.

The regiment was held in reserve at Antietam but three days afterward crossed the Potomac and had a severe engagement near Shepherdstown. It lost 64 killed, 124 wounded and 94 missing. Among the wounded was Colonel Prevost, while carrying the colors to the front. It served throughout the war and participated in all the battles of the Army of the Potomac. At Gettysburg it reached the field on the morning of the 3d and did severe fighting in the "Wheat Field." On the 3rd it was moved to the left and stationed on Round Top. Their monument is located on the northern slope of Big Round Top and is set on a massive granite boulder. It is capped by a blanket and knapsack. During

FIND SOME BITTERNESS IN LABOR DAY STATEMENTS

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bitterness etched the Labor Day statements of union leaders today as they pictured labor defending itself against a powerful onslaught by big business.

On the other hand, President Eisenhower issued a statement stressing the giant gains made by American labor in the twentieth century.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, agreeing with the President's estimate of progress, added that labor should move forward and try to raise the low economic status of the migrant farm worker.

Two Issues Rankle
Two issues rankled labor leaders as they tried to marshal union strength on the nation's 53th Labor Day. One issue was the new labor control bill. The other was increased resistance by employers to union demands for higher wages, an issue emphasized by the steel strike.

Today "might as well be called anti-labor day," said James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers and a vice president of the AFL-CIO.

But the AFL-CIO officially named the day "Support the Steelworkers Day" in a move to help the 500,000 steel workers who have been on strike for eight weeks.

"Would Destroy Unions"
George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, said labor would have to fight big business with a new program of education and political power.

"Big business leaders are doing everything in their power to weaken and destroy our trade union movement," Meany said in a statement.

Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers and an AFL-CIO vice president, said "We are in trouble in America."

"Like's Statement"
This has happened, he continued, "because giant corporations exercising monopoly control over vital sectors of the American economy are motivated by selfish policies which deny workers, farmers and consumers their fair share of the increased productivity made possible by our developing technology."

Eisenhower's statement, released by the White House in his absence, said "One cannot look back over past Labor Days without a compelling awareness of the broad and constant improvement in the condition of our people, in the real wages they receive, and in the benefits they enjoy."

Mitchell Speaks
"American labor has advanced continuously to new heights of accomplishment," Eisenhower continued.

Secretary Mitchell arranged to speak at a ceremony by the grave of labor leader Peter J. McGuire, the founder of Labor Day. "Since that first Labor Day in 1894," Mitchell said in his prepared speech, "our production has multiplied four times, employment has tripled, real earnings have tripled, average hourly earnings have risen five times, the workweek has gone down from 60 to 40 hours, and working conditions have improved immeasurably as far as health, safety and comfort are concerned."

CHILL FIRST
When you are planning to beat undiluted evaporated milk, be sure to chill it in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator until fine ice crystals form. Pour it into an ice-cube tray for this chilling period.

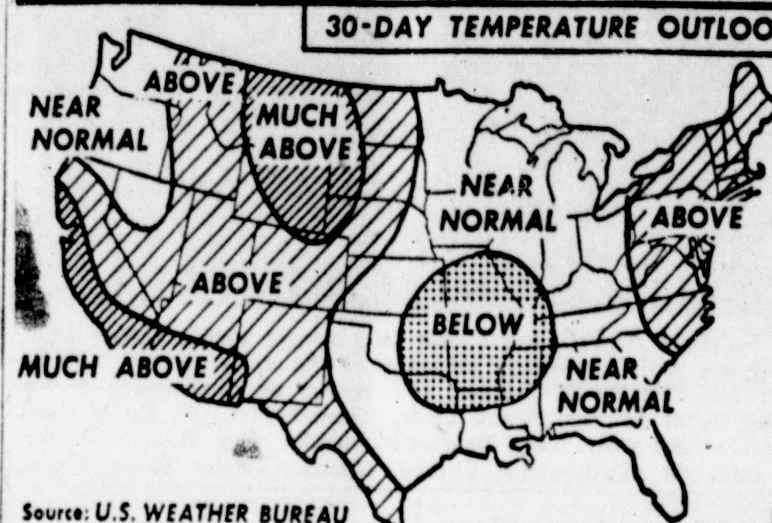

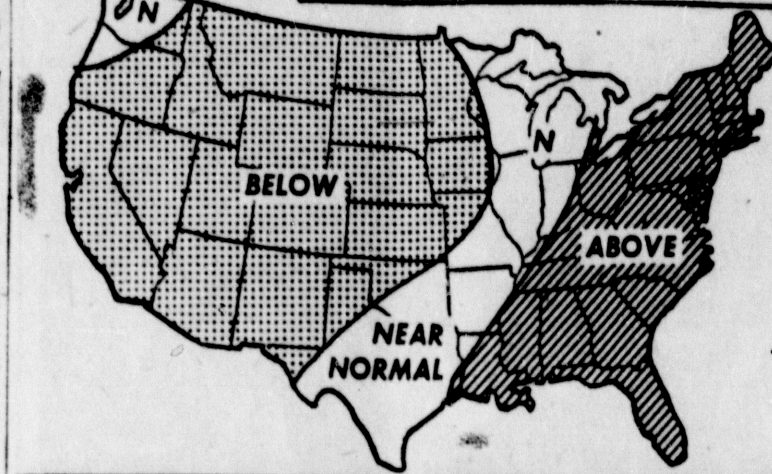

STIR BEFORE MEASURING
It's a good idea to stir non-fat dry milk solids before you measure them.

SCHOOL COST SURVEY NEAR

HARRISBURG (AP) — A $40,000 statistical survey of school costs and education is planned by the state for this fall.

"Lack of accurate statistical information about the cost and operations of our schools has been a drawback to economical financing of education," Gov. Lawrence said in a weekend statement announcing the planned survey.

"The principal value of this kind of research is developing the ability to make sharper forecasts of school needs, both in the lower grades and colleges," Lawrence said. "The result is more careful planning and elimination of wasteful expense at all levels of education."

Meanwhile, the State Department of Public Instruction reported that 73 formerly independent school districts have been swallowed up by mergers and consolidations.

However, the new total of 2,277 school districts still is far above the department's goal of 534. The

LEUKEMIA IS FATAL TO KAY KENDALL, 32

LONDON (AP) — Beautiful Kay Kendall, who rose from a chorus line to stardom of film and stage, died Sunday at the age of 32.

The enchanting, sophisticated actress never knew she suffered from leukemia — cancer of the blood — which took her life. But her husband, actor Rex Harrison, knew it when he married her two years ago.

"Darling, I love you very much," Miss Kendall told Harrison before she slipped into unconsciousness at the London Clinic.

The slender English beauty entered the hospital eight days ago. She had been in poor health for 20 months. But Harrison, star of the musical "My Fair Lady," told her up to the last that she would soon be well again.

Dr. Carl Goldman, Miss Kendall's long-time physician, said the star's malady was first diagnosed in New York four years ago.

Doctors, who knew Harrison planned to marry Miss Kendall as soon as he was divorced from his previous wife, told the actor about the illness.

Married in 1957

"He showed her great love and affection," said Dr. Goldman. "No one could have been more wonderful than Rex was to Kay." Miss Kendall was born in York, England. Her family had a theatrical history going back four generations. She began her career in the London Palladium chorus when she was 12.

Miss Kendall married Harrison in New York in 1957. It was her first marriage, his third.

Hoegh, here to give a speech, was asked by the newsman: "How about criticism of Stephen Young?"

Replied Hoegh: "Who's Stephen Young?"

JUDGE DIES ON SATURDAY

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Funeral services will be held Tuesday for Judge Gustave L. Schramm, 61, one of the nation's leading authorities on juvenile court problems. Judge Schramm who first was elected to the Juvenile Court bench in 1933 died Saturday at his Mt. Lebanon home after suffering a heart attack. He had just finished a conference with other juvenile authorities.

Last year the State Bar Assn. gave Judge Schramm its Distinguished Service Award. During his 26 years on the bench, he personally interviewed more than 25,000 young offenders.

The award hailed Judge Schramm as having created a juvenile court and procedure for personalized treatment of juveniles which has become a recognized model for juvenile procedures throughout the country.

RESENT BABY AT FESTIVAL

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — An official complaint was lodged against Jayne Mansfield here for parading her 8-month-old son before yelling crowds at an after-dark festival.

Jayne and her husband Mickey Hargitay took baby Mickey with them when they officiated at Blackpool's annual ceremony of switching on the seafont illuminations.

Some 20,000 spectators yelled with delight as Hargitay hoisted the boy shoulder high amid the bright lights.

The complaint was lodged by inspector Frank Seviere of the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

"No child of that age should take part in publicity stunts, especially at that time of night," Seviere declared.

The ceremony was held just before 9 p.m. Saturday. Jayne commented: "Blackpool is a wonderful family town and I thought everyone would love to see my baby."

Hargitay said: "The boy had been well rested up for the show. I don't think he was tired."

Philadelphia Gets Smithy Applications

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A month ago Foster B. Rorer, city personnel director, complained to the Civil Service Commission he was unable to find a qualified Philadelphia who could shoe the 64 horses used by Fairmount Park guards. The Associated Press and newspapers carried the story. Rorer now reports that he has received a pile of applications, including some from Ireland, Britain, Italy and Canada. He said, however, the city charter prohibits the hiring of persons who are not citizens of the United States. The city will provide only the materials to be used in the examination—a hammer, nails and a barefoot horse.

Coach Paul Bryant will have 9 seniors, 25 juniors and 33 sophomores on this year's University of Alabama football team.

TAX SWITCH LIKELY FOR DRINK SALES

HARRISBURG (AP) — A plan to switch the 4 per cent sales tax on liquor and beer from the state store and the distributor level to across-the-bar sales appears headed for approval by the Republican Senate.

But its chances in the Democratic-controlled House are considered less bright.

Sens. James S. Berger, Republican floor leader, and Edward J. Kessler, Finance Committee chairman, predicted over the weekend success in the Senate for a move to put the sales tax on beer, liquor and soft drinks at the retail level.

But House Speaker H.G. Andrews declared he would oppose it in the lower chamber.

In Recess Now

House Democratic leader Stephen McCann said he would put the proposal to his caucus next week.

Both the House and Senate are in recess until Wednesday to give members a long Labor Day weekend. Sessions are scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday but little major activity is expected.

The two Republican senators said a sales tax on beer and liquor at the bar and soft drinks by the bottle would bring a revenue increase estimated between 20 and 23 million dollars a biennium. The estimated revenue at present — where the tax is paid at the liquor stores, beer distributor or soft drink distributor — is nearly 45 millions.

Berger said the tax revisions should come to a final vote in the Senate the week of Sept. 14.

Wants To Talk To "K" About Wife

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Andrew Zinewich, 62, Greensburg foundry worker, hopes to talk to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev about getting his wife from Poland to the U.S. when the Russian visits Pittsburgh.

Zinewich and his 60-year-old wife were married in 1920 in Poland. He came to America in 1926 and worked through the depression years to save enough money to bring his family to this country. Since the war, Zinewich said he has attempted every way he knows to bring his wife to the U.S. but Communist red tape has thwarted him.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Under the glare of television lights and flashbulbs, Bishop John J. Wright of the Pittsburgh Roman Catholic Diocese baptized the infant daughter of a city policeman Sunday. The Bishop went to the hospital room of Patrolman Anthony Paga to perform the ceremony. It marked the first time Paga saw his daughter, Cynthia.

The child was born July 28, five days after Paga was seriously wounded in a gun battle with two bank bandits.

INDIANS WIN 2-1 DECISION OVER CHISOX TO STAY ALIVE

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The statistics show it is virtually impossible for him to win the American League batting title.

The standings show his team has about the same chance of overtaking Chicago for the pennant.

Yet Tito Francona hasn't given up trying to accomplish both.

Still in Race

Thanks to Francona and three other Indians—Vic Power, Woodie Held and Jim Grant—the Indians are still breathing today although they are 4½ games behind the White Sox with only 20 games left to play. This quartet was responsible for Cleveland's 2-1 triumph Sunday, its second straight one-run decision over Chicago. Had the Indians lost those two they would have dropped 8½ lengths behind to certain extinction.

Blanked by Dick Donovan through eight innings, Cleveland rallied for two runs in the top of the ninth to snatch the game out of the fire. Power drove in both runs with a two-base hit but it was Francona, who ignited the winning thrust with a one-out single, his third of the game. After Rocky Colavito became the second out, Held kept the rally alive with a single, setting up Power's game-winning blow.

Yanks Beaten
Detroit took undisputed possession of third place, nipping Kansas City 7-6. Baltimore dropped New York into fourth place, beating the Yankees 5-4 and Boston edged out Washington 2-1.

In the National League, St. Louis shut out San Francisco 1-0, Milwaukee beat Cincinnati 6-2, Philadelphia nipped Pittsburgh 2-1 and the Chicago Cubs trounced the Los Angeles Dodgers twice 3-0 and 5-3.

The Cleveland victory went to Grant, the first of his career over the White Sox. He had lost eight straight to the league leaders.

It was the second straight day that Francona had combed White Sox pitching for three hits. He now is hitting exactly .500 (21 for 42) against the Sox. His overall batting mark is .385, thirty points higher than Harvey Kuenn, the nominal league batting leader.

Orioles Move Up
Yet Francona is almost certain not to win the batting title. Under the rules, a man must come to bat a total of 447 times to be eligible. Including 23 walks, one hit batter and nine sacrifices, Tito has batted 366 times. Even if he were to bat five times in each of Cleveland's remaining 20 games—highly unlikely—he'll still be nine appearances shy of the required figure.

Kuenn, who is hitting .355, scored Detroit's winning run in the ninth. He doubled and came home on a single by Charley Maxwell, snapping a 6-6 tie. The Tigers rattled 15 hits off three Kansas City pitchers including a two-run homer by Frank Bolling and a three-run blast by Al Kaline.

Gene Woodling drove in three runs against his former mates with a home run and bases-loaded single as the Orioles moved to within a game and a half of the Yankees and the first division. Tom Brewer hurled a five-hitter and socked a home run to win a pitching duel from Washington's Pete Ramos.

Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Springfield is cheering and singing the praise of their beloved Giants today. They brought home the Eastern League pennant, their first since 1911.

The dark horse Giants, who didn't move into contention until late in the season, clinched the pennant Sunday with an 8-4 victory over Albany.

Vic Davis (15-6) pitched a seven-hitter for the victory. He was backed by a 12-hit attack. The Giants jumped off to a three-run lead in the second off Stan Horvath (9-12) on a walk, doubles by Tom Haller and Don Strickch, two wild pitches and a single by Matty Alou. They sewed it up in the seventh with five more runs on a double, three singles, three walks and a wild pitch.

Second-place Allentown lost 8-7 to Lancaster; Williamsport, a game behind Allentown, was beaten 6-5 by fourth-place Binghamton, stayed in contention for a playoff berth with an 8-4 victory over York. The regular season ends today and playoffs start Tuesday.

HEMUS CLAIMS GIANTS BEST

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Manager Solly Hemus of the St. Louis Cardinals says San Francisco "still looks like the best club in the league to me."

He'd just watched his right-hander Larry Jackson throttle the Giants on five singles for a 1-0 victory, but Solly still respected San Francisco power.

"You have good pitching and power," he told newsmen.

"San Francisco is never out of an inning until you get that third out. And you can't pitch around the big hitters like you can on some clubs. These guys are tough all the way. I'd have to say they're the best the way they've beaten us."

Despite the loss, San Francisco's National League leadership was increased to three full games as the Chicago Cubs knocked off second-place Los Angeles in a doubleheader 3-0 and 5-3.

NAME TIGER MANAGER SOON

DETROIT (AP)—General Manager Rick Ferrell said today he will select the Detroit Tigers' 1960 manager when the club returns home from its current road trip.

Chances are it will be Jimmie Dykes, who has led the Tigers to a 67-52 mark since he replaced Bill Norman on May 3.

"I don't want to look ahead to 1960 too soon," said Ferrell, who brought Dykes from the Pittsburgh Pirates' coaching lines after dismissing Norman.

The Tigers—who were 2-15 under Norman currently are two games over the .500 mark. They have a good chance to finish third.

"Dykes has done a tremendous job," said Ferrell.

Dykes, who will be 63 in November, had made it plain he would like to return in 1960 for a full season's shot.

WELCOME ABOARD

CHICAGO (AP)—A school's design should reach out and greet the new student, says school architect Lawrence B. Perkins.

"One of the first problems the school designer must consider is the first impression his building gives. It must say 'welcome,' offering an appetizing introduction to education to the new-comer."

ALEX OLMEDO AND MACKAY WIN ON SUNDAY

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—What's the condition of tennis in the United States?

Well, consider the following: Never before in the history of the national championships—and this is the 79th edition—have foreigners won both the men's and women's titles.

It could happen this year, though.

Nothing New

There is nothing new in a foreigner winning the men's crown. The Australians have taken it the past three years, and if they don't let down, one of them probably will come through again.

The last foreign woman to win was Anita Lizana of Mexico in 1937. Before that, it was Betty Nuthall of England in 1930. Both years the men's title was won by Americans.

This year, the only U.S. men who appear capable of coming through are the losing Davis Cup twins, Alex Olmedo—a resident but still a citizen of Peru—and big Barry MacKay, who is seeded third.

Win Second Round

Both won their second round matches with no trouble Sunday. Olmedo polished off Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., 7-5, 6-8, 6-4, 6-2, and MacKay battered ancient Gardner Mulloy of Miami, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4.

"I've seen Olmedo play a lot better," observed Flam, an ex-Davis Cupper.

Olmedo is top-seeded, but only because he won the Wimbledon championship. Neale Fraser, No. 2 seeded but the favorite off his Davis Cup showing, cut down Mike Green of Miami Beach, Fla., 8-6, 6-4, 6-1, while Rod Laver, another Aussie seeded No. 4, had no trouble getting past Frank Froehling 3rd, 6-4, 6-0, 6-2.

Two U.S. Girls

As for the women, there are only two U.S. girls seeded. Darlene Hard, of Montebello, Calif., who hasn't been playing much, is No. 4, and Sally Moore of Bakersfield, Calif., is No. 8.

Miss Hard, runner-up at Wimbledon the past two years, is aligned against the likes of Maria Bueno of Brazil, No. 1; Sandra Reynolds of South Africa, No. 2; and Christine Truman of England, No. 3. Her chances are slim. Miss Moore, at 18, isn't ready yet.

Both Miss Reynolds and Miss Truman advanced to the third round Sunday. Miss Reynolds halted Barbara Weingand of Alexandria, Va., 6-1, 6-3, and Miss Truman sailed past Mini Arnold of Redwood City, Calif., 7-5, 6-1.

BROWNS EDGE RAMS AS BEARS THUMP 'SKINS

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jarrin Jimmy Brown, who spent much of his time last season carting in enemy territory while setting a National Football League record of 1,527 yards gained in one season, is up to his old antics.

Contained while Cleveland dropped three successive exhibitions, Brown found his script Saturday and scored two touchdowns as the Browns won their first pre-season game by edging Los Angeles 27-24.

Pounding up the middle and sweeping the flanks, Brown rolled up 179 of the 224 yards the Browns gained on the ground. The former Syracuse All-America averaged 8.1 yards a carry for 22 tries at the Ram defense.

In other games, the undefeated Chicago Bears rolled to their fourth victory, thumping Washington 52-14; New York's touted defense chalked up its second straight shut out as the Giants defeated Green Bay 14-0, and Chicago Cardinals whipped San Francisco 27-24.

Brown scored on runs of 30 and three yards as Cleveland moved to a 17-7 halftime lead. Despite his efforts, the Browns needed a Lou Groza field goal in the final period to insure the triumph. Quarterback Billy Wade hit Del Shofner on TD passes of 18 and 25 yards and rolled up 40 yards in the air to keep Los Angeles within striking distance.

Rick Casares triggered the Bears in their awesome display of offensive power, scoring three times as the Chicagoans kept pace with Baltimore's defending champs as the only undefeated clubs. Ed Brown heaved three TD passes, a pair to rookie end Willard Deweave, Eddie LeBaron accounted for Washington's points with two scoring aerials.

Alex Webster scored twice from inside the 3-yard line as the Giants evened their record at 2-2 by stifling the Green Bay offense. Quarterback George Shaw, acquired from Baltimore, engineered both Giant scoring drives and was particularly effective on passes to halfback Frank Gifford.

The Cardinals raised their record to 4-1, tops among Eastern Division teams, as Bobby Joe Conrad's 17-yard field goal with 7½ minutes left beat the Rams. Conrad accounted for 15 Chicago points, collecting another three-pointer, scoring on a 12-yard run and kicking three extra points.

Editor's Note: The writer, whose column is based on the concept that there is a Magic Circle of interesting things to do and see around every area of the nation, turns the spotlight on his own home town this week.

By EDWARD COLLIER

Sophisticated country living, weekend house parties, the heady aroma of success—this is Westport of flamboyant novels, plays and magazine articles. It hardly adds up to "Home Sweet Home."

But the real Westport—where I live along with 18,999 others—is my home town. My fellow townspeople are renowned artists, writers of hit novels, sturdy Connecticut Yankees, Madison Avenue advertising men, consulting engineers, movie and TV stars. But you never think about it unless you see their names on a mailbox on one of the hilly and wooded byways that comprise the city's whimsically named "streets." They vary from the historic, like Red Coat Road; to Hermit Lane, first dubbed Hermit Thrush Lane; to Broad Street, one of the narrowest and most twisting.

So be my guest on a Magic Circle tour of southern Connecticut that starts in my home town, which is in the business of playing footsie with New York City. In Colonial days Westport was a major onion growing center; in recent years industry was represented by plans that made embalming fluid and ping-pong balls. Despite a parkway and a turnpike, our lifeline is the railroad line. Five days a week a stream of commuter cars funnels into the avenue to the station, like so many tributaries into a river. Once the busy wives have deposited their husbands on the morning trains for the Big City, they take out their bobby pins, put on make-up and embark on the day's schedule.

Varied Life

A visit to downtown Westport dispels the illusion that the town has emptied. Shorts-clad shoppers move from the old stores, some of which have been in use for more than a hundred years, to the smart shops, which continually extend the town's boundaries. An ice cream parlor, playing at being ancient, has marble-topped tables, candy jars filled with licorice and a nickelodeon. Waiters in striped vests and handle-bar mustaches serve phosphates, sarsaparilla and old-fashioned super-sundaes.

For those with art interest, there is the unique Famous Artists School, from which which 15,000 are successfully taught art by mail. On a tour of the plant (2-4 p.m. Monday-Friday) you will see the large student correspondence department, nerve center of the operation, and dozens of small cubicles where the artists are at work on the undergrads' assignments. The halls are a gallery, lined with pictures by the 70 top artists connected with the school. Norman Rockwell's cover picture "Gossip" is an attention-getter.

Town Changes Character

Westport changes character in summer and becomes a resort town, with hundreds of New Yorkers added to the population. Activity is centered on Long Island Sound at the yacht basin and historically famous Compo Beach. It was here that 2,000 British troops landed in 1777 for a raid on Danbury. The event is commemorated by a statue of the Minute Man at the foot of Compo Hill. Also popular is the Country Playhouse, one of the oldest summer theaters in the country. This big air-conditioned barn often plays to standing room only.

A drive along the lanes in outlying Westport gives credence to its reputation for glamorous country living. A 200-year-old salt box may have a common stone fence boundary with a this-year's split-level. Each house is set on an acre or more of land, often left in its original wooded state to enhance the rustic atmosphere. Only the newcomers and unwelcome developers tear out the wealth of natural trees, shrubs and wild-

Connecticut's Westport, both lauded and libeled by novels, movies and magazines is the starting point for a Home Town Magic Circle trip that includes the Long Island Sound water playground; Fairfield's Birdcraft Sanctuary; busy Bridgeport, famed for its Barnum Festival and circus institute; the internationally noted Shakespeare Festival Theater at Stratford; Putnam Memorial State Park, called "Connecticut's Valley Forge"; Danbury, "hat center of the world"; and known for its fair, held annually since 1869; Ridgefield and its beautiful colonial homes; U. S. Highway 7, the "trail of antique shops."

flowers to give it the suburban look. The campus-like schools are a drawing card for the town, and the $4 million Staples High School is a painted taxpayers' showplace.

Waterfront Estates

The Magic Circle out of Westport (Conn. 136) leads to Sherwood Island State Park, where there are tree-shaded picnic tables, convenient big boulders for sunning after a swim, fishing and boating. Along this route, in the Southport section of Fairfield, is Connecticut's "millionaire row"—one waterfront estate after another, each with extensive grounds.

Most of these mansions were built around the turn of the century, their privacy protected by gatehouses and high walls. The motorist may catch just a glimpse of the hotel-like structures among the fine old trees. The view of these homes from the Sound is one of great expanses of lawn stretching to the sea wall, private boat anchorages, often with ocean-going yachts "parked" for a visit. Nature lovers will enjoy the Birdcraft Sanctuary in Fairfield. Birds are not confined to aviaries, but offered the hospitality of feeding stations; many stay to be entertained indefinitely. The Fairfield Historical Society on Old Post Road has an exhibition of clocks, old toys, dolls and unusual canes that vary from the sword type to one containing a concealed flask and goblet. Another is actually made out of a snake.

Transfer To Turnpike

From here transfer to the handy new Connecticut Turnpike (Interstate 95) for fast spin to Bridgeport, third largest manufacturing center in New England and noted for its annual Barnum Festival, a glittering melange of parades, beauty queens, clowns, bands and merri-ment—all to honor P. T. Barnum, native son whom citizens call the "greatest showman on earth." This year 285,000 watched the spectacular parade.

The Barnum Institute displays (the year around) the fabulous and sometimes weird results of the circus king's world travel collections: the doll-sized trousers, satin waistcoats and richly-fashioned dresses worn by Tom Thumb and his wife; a mummy dating from the time of Moses, whose teeth are all molars and whose knobby knee-joints suggest that he may have been a polio victim; a large doll collection, many over 100 years old in yellowed lace costumes; mementos of Jenny Lind; and weapons, ships models, chinaware and a not-too-well-preserved baby elephant.

A stop in Stratford at the new but already internationally-famous American Shakespeare Festival Theatre is a "must." The structure has an old-world look, resembling the Globe Theater in England. It is set on the banks of the Housatonic River and the lawn, dotted with tables, slopes down to the water. Many players come early and bring a basket supper and eat while costumed madrigal singers move from group to group serenading. The three Shakespearean offerings each season are played on several levels, made possible by the cleverly designed new-world stage.

scenic four-lane divided pleasure route is carefully landscaped; no signboards or commercial vehicles are allowed.

Putnam Memorial State Park, called the "Valley Forge of Connecticut," is famous as the Revolutionary camp grounds where General Israel Putnam's troops lasted through the bitter winter of 1778-79. History seems exciting as you see the old log guardhouse with dirt floor and massive fireplace and the piles of stone rubble against a protecting cliff—all that is left of the soldiers' huts. Shaded lanes take you to picnic spots and hiking trails. The little museum, which exhibits artifacts from Revolutionary times, includes objects picked up from the camp grounds. One is a rusted rifle barrel which some bored Colonial soldier had made into a flute.

Hat Center Of World

The route curves west (U. S. 202) to Danbury, called the hat center of the world. This pioneer Connecticut industry brought complaints as early as 1732 from the English hatmakers that the competition was ruining them. Danbury itself dates from 1665, and today is a bustling little city where the business of covering the heads of America's men is still important. All male citizens wear hats as a civic gesture. The Danbury Fair has been held each fall since 1869 the first full week of October; visitors come for miles to compete or see the exhibits of livestock, flowers, vegetables and home crafts.

The "Trail of Antiques" would be a more fitting name for U. S. 7 south from Danbury along Kissin Brook and through Wilton. There are so many shops dealing in heirlooms that many specialize—the gamut runs from rocking chairs to chinaware, oil lamps, iron fireplace pots and yokes for oxen.

For a glimpse of "Old Colonial" leave U. S. 7 and complete the Magic Circle back to Westport via Ridgefield, a serene bit of New England. The town signs are headed "1709," and a number of the graceful white and red clapboard homes with their dark green shutters are more than 200 years old. On one is the legend, "This house was used for dying soldiers during the Revolution."

SEEKS TALK WITH IKE ON STEEL STRIKE

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence says there can be no substitute for a personal meeting between President Eisenhower and the governors of states most seriously affected by the nationwide steel strike.

He said the people of hard-hit states need the reassurance of a personal meeting between the President and their governors.

Gov. Lawrence made the comment Saturday after Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell asked Lawrence and the governors of eight other states to forward to him statistics on economic effects of the strike.

Referred To Mitchell

Mitchell said a request by the governors for a meeting with Eisenhower had been referred to him.

Lawrence said in another telegram to Eisenhower that Pennsylvania's economic data was being sent to Mitchell, adding: "While I have been unable to communicate directly with all governors over this Labor Day weekend, I feel confident they share my conviction that statistics are no substitute for a first-hand report to the President by the governors of he states most immediately concerned on the strike's increasing pressures upon their peoples."

Costly To State

Lawrence said that the steel strike has idled 225,000 workers in Pennsylvania, including about 48,

STATE SENATE REPRIMANDED BY A MEMBER

By LEONARD A. UNGER
HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania Senate, with its club-like atmosphere and tradition laden pleasantries, received a reprimand the other day.

It came from one of its own members, Sen. Hugh J. McMenamin (D—Lackawanna). He used the term "sorriest spectacle" in describing a parliamentary controversy that had degenerated into something approaching a cat-and-dog fight.

It was the first time in modern history that a senator took the entire body to task for its conduct.

The Basic Issue

The basic issue was the long-standing custom of voting senators who are actually absent. This has been done for years by pre-arrangement among floor leaders, particularly on noncontroversial legislation.

It happened on a move by Sen. Frank Koprivier Jr. (R—Allegheny) to amend the Allegheny mass transit plan to make it mandatory that county voters approve the proposal before it could go into effect.

The Senate clerk was all set to hand up to Lt. Gov. John Morgan Davis a roll call showing that the amendment was defeated, 22-28. But Koprivier saw a lot of empty seats on the Democratic side and demanded a verification of the roll call.

More Debate

"Someone cannot count," he said. "There are eight missing on the other side. I think we should be fair."

Sen. Charles R. Deiner, Democratic floor leader, interrupted him with a motion to adjourn until later that night to round up the absentees.

The Senate got involved in some more debate despite the fact that a motion to adjourn is not debatable.

Integrity At Stake

Koprivier was ignored in the hubbub until McMenamin arose to chastise his colleagues.

He said the motion to adjourn was "a parliamentary trick or maneuver." For example, Sen. Peter J. Camiel (D—Phila.), listed as voting against the amendment, was on the west coast on a business trip, McMenamin declared, adding:

"I do not see how, under any circumstances, the parliamentary maneuvering which went on can be justified when that type of vote was recorded."

"Reconsidered Later"

"I think the integrity of the Democratic process is more important than the failure or the success of any bill that we have before us."

The amendment later was reconsidered and defeated when Davis broke a 21-21 tie vote. But the fact remained that at least a half dozen absent senators originally had been recorded as voting. It also drew comment from Sen. William J. Lane (D—Washington) that the 4 per cent sales tax passed the Senate with two absent Democrats listed as voting for it.

He said they were Sens. Anthony J. Disilvestro (Phila.), who is ill at home, and John Carl Miller (Beaver).

WILL ENFORCE OLD BLUE LAWS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh police will continue to enforce the old law forbidding Sunday sales and await a court test of the new law, Safety Director Louis Rosenberg says.

Referring to a new law passed by the current Legislature, Rosenberg said:

"I don't think it's enforceable and I'm going to tell the police to enforce the old law. It's going to take the court to decide what is meant by the new state act."

Under the old law persons convicted of selling merchandise on Sunday are subject to a $4 fine and $9 court cost.

The new law provides a penalty of $100 fine for the first offense of $200 fine and jail terms of 30 days for a second offense.

Rosenberg's main objection to the new law, he said, is that it does not provide a jail sentence for first offenders even if they do not pay their fines.

000 who were affected indirectly.

In an analysis of the strike's impact on the state, the governor estimated that the cost to Pennsylvania government, labor and industry would be over half a billion dollars if the strike continues another month.

If the 55-day-old strike lasts three months, he said, it will cost workers 345 million dollars in lost wages, business 195 millions in lost profits and government 22½ millions through increased costs of public assistance, unemployment compensation (to nonstrikers) and in lost tax revenue.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

No white man had dared approach the camp of Sitting Bull for four years. Then "Black Robe," Father Pierre-Jean de Smet, started out from Fort Rice in 1868 on a peace mission. Others feared for his life, but he loved Indians and they loved him. Sixteen days later his party neared the Yellowstone River camp. As Sitting Bull and 400 warriors rode out to greet them, a holy flag bearing the name of Jesus was unfurled above the party. Supposing it was a soldiers' flag, the Indians circled the mission until they saw it was a flag of peace. The Sioux shook hands and sang. Tears of joy streamed down "Black Robe's" face. He was welcomed to the camp of 5,000 and spoke in council: "Friends, I have been trying to see you and through the help of God, I now have that pleasure . . . in the name of the Great Spirit, of all good, I beseech you to bury all your animosities . . . The flag is the holy emblem of peace . . . I will leave it as a token of good wishes . . . It is to Him you must look for all blessings . . ."

"Black Robe" blessed children, baptized some Indians, told Bible stories and presented Sitting Bull with a cross. There was peace for eight years.

300 PATIENTS NAME FAVORITE TV PROGRAMS

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television shows live or die by results of polls and popularity ratings in spite of the controversy over their validity.

Herewith we report the results of a poll recently conducted among the 300 patients at National Jewish Hospital at Denver—a group of men, women and children from all over the country, all walks of life, race, religion and color.

Maverick and Dick Clark's American Bandstand tied for first place. Ed Byrnes, the young man who plays Kookie in 77 Sunset Strip, was close behind.

Welk Bows

Next was "As the World Turns," a daytime soap opera. It isn't often a daytime series gets into a top-10 position—and even less often is one placed ahead of such favorites as Lawman and the Ed Sullivan show, which were next in the patients' ratings.

Last year, by the way, the overwhelming favorite of the patients was Lawrence Welk. This year he polled only four votes.

A New Mother

NBC was trying hard, but its special news shows on the Eisenhower European trip were consistently outclassed by CBS. NBC went in strongly for deep thinking and lecturing; CBS emphasized the news aspects and took a brisk, brighter approach to its backgrounding.

There's bound to be a mixup between Mother and Hope Emerson on the nights of Sept. 21 and 22. Last year's Mother in the popular Peter Gunn series on NBC was actress Hope Emerson. When the new series of Gunn shows starts on the 21st, there will be a new Mother—actress Minerva Urecal. The first story will have Mother's joint wrecked so that the new one will have a classier place for Pete to hang out.

The next night on CBS, who will turn up but Hope Emerson, in the new role that made a replacement necessary—"Sarge" in the new Dennis O'Keefe Show.

LABOR DAY IS DAY OF CRISIS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers, says Labor Day is a day of crisis, not only for striking steel workers but for all Americans.

In a Labor Day statement the union leader said the steel industry is "warring against steelworkers from treasuries swollen with undreamed of profits."

McDonald noted that the American labor movement also has designated Labor Day as "Support the Steelworkers Day." He said:

"It is a day when workers everywhere are rallying to the support of a valiant group of steelworkers who are in the front line trenches, standing up to an onslaught that could well be turned against all working families in our nation."

1959 Trout Season Ends At Midnight

HARRISBURG (AP)—The regular 1959 season on brook, brown and rainbow trout ends at midnight tonight, but fishing for rainbows in ponds and lakes will continue until Oct. 31.

The extension for rainbows was approved by the State Fish Commission at its July meeting.

Trout fishing also is being allowed on the left branch of Young's Creek in Clinton County, but fishermen are required to release all catch to the stream.

William Voight Jr., executive director, said the area is being managed as a "put them back alive" experiment until Oct. 31.

1959 Trout Season Ends At Midnight

HARRISBURG (AP)—The regular 1959 season on brook, brown and rainbow trout ends at midnight tonight, but fishing for rainbows in ponds and lakes will continue until Oct. 31.

The extension for rainbows was approved by the State Fish Commission at its July meeting.

Trout fishing also is being allowed on the left branch of Young's Creek in Clinton County, but fishermen are required to release all catch to the stream.

William Voight Jr., executive director, said the area is being managed as a "put them back alive" experiment until Oct. 31.
